There are numerous Soviet so-called 'Labor' badges from the 1920's to the 1940's. They seem innocuous at first glance – badges for construction, development, canals, etc. But, in fact, they were GULAG labor camps which dotted the landscape of the Soviet Union. The badge above is the only one which spells out that chilling fact: ГУСДС НКВД – GUSDS (Gulag Far Eastern Construction) NKVD.

3209

Берзин Петр Андреевич. Родился в Лифляндской губ. Латыш. Окончил школу прапорщиков (1917 г.). Учился 1 год на естественном факультете 1-го Московского университета, член партии большевиков с марта 1917 года. Участник 1-й мировой войны, прапорщик.

С середины 1920 года - председатель Революционного военного трибунала Петроградского военного округа. Принимал активное участие в подавлении Кронштадского мятежа в марте 1921 года, после чего подал рапорт о переводе на другую работу. В рапорте на имя председателя РВТР от 5 мая 1921 года он, в частности, указывал: '...Беспрерывной и напряженной деятельностью в разных реввоен трибуналах на Южфронте и в городе Петрограде в течение 2-х лет я, особенно после Кронштадских событий весьма сильно переутомился и нуждаюсь больше всего в перемене характера деятельности. Прошу Вас освободить меня от исполнения обязанностей и должности председателя РВТ Петроградского военного округа с направлением для использования на политической или производственной работе'.

17 мая 1921 года был откомандирован в резерв РВТР. В период с 29 мая по 15 июня 1921 года был председателем РВТ МВО.
